To quote Seth Klarman, an American billionaire investor, hedge fund manager, and author:
“The stock market is the story of cycles and of the human behaviour that is responsible for overreactions in both directions.”

Stock markets are issuing and trading markets for securities such as bonds, stocks and all other shares of investment funds, providing the largest source of long term finance for business firms facilitating their operations and economic growth and simultaneously provides huge opportunities for investors. Investing in stock markets is a challenging venture requiring expert skill, a rational, composed and enduring mindset with not only short term proficiency but also a long term horizon. In the light of the current volatile market, it is the apt time to review the situation to unleash the hidden potentialities. The focus of this international webinar is to highlight the behaviour of Stock Market and consequential policy responses in reaction to the economic crisis webbed during Covid 19 pandemic. The eminent speakers of this International webinar are experts in the field who will enlighten us about this coveted yet dreaded field of finance. This will not only sensitise the participants about the basics of the Stock market but also enable perceiving the outcomes, pros and cons of investment in the financial market and will enhance their knowledge in this field for their future research and academic purposes.
